

The Casting Workshop Collective Guidelines

All companies adhere to the agreed guidelines below. These guidelines are based on 3hr casting workshops.

1. Returning Hosts

- Casting hosts will have 1 engagement/workshop per company per month
- A 'double-day', where a casting host runs a workshop twice in one day (usually a weekend) counts as 1 engagement

The limit on 1 engagement per month ensures that there is fluidity between companies. As all companies run slightly different iterations of casting workshops, whether in length, style or location, this ensures actors have a bigger choice.

2. Maximum group Number

- Casting workshops must have no more than 16 actors in attendance

This enables all actors to have a high-quality experience

3. Advertising

- All information about a casting workshops must be correct and up to date on website and social media
 - Achieved through granting approval from the host before publishing and promoting workshop
- If mentioning previous work, all advertising copy must relate only to the host's credits
 - If the host is working for an office, the casting office's previous work, or work where the casting host wasn't involved in, must not be used to advertise the workshop
 - Casting assistants must have their title (casting assistant) included in any form of advertising that mentions their credits
